Mosquito Spraying Delayed Due to Wet Weather

Due to wet weather, the spray schedule has been delayed one day. Weather permitting, Plano Environmental Quality crews will spray tonight, Friday and Saturday evening.

Earlier this week, we reported tests conducted of eight pools of mosquitoes in City traps came back positive for the West Nile virus. The City will take proactive measures by spraying eight targeted locations in and around the area of the traps. The targeted spray areas are bordered by the following streets:

Residents are urged to ensure children and pets are indoors during the time of spraying. The City encourages citizens to follow common prevention practices: DRAIN standing water in and around your home and neighborhood. DRESS appropriately before going outdoors. DEET (N, N-diethyl-m-toluamide) is an ingredient to look for when purchasing insect repellent. The use of bug spray is recommended at all times, when outdoors, especially during the day.

At this time, the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) has no data to suggest that COVID-19 or other similar coronaviruses are spread by mosquitoes or ticks. The main way that COVID-19 spreads is from person to person. See How Coronavirus Spreads for more information.

Citizens with concerns or questions can call the City of Plano Environmental Health and Sustainability Department at 972-941-7143.
