

Parenting Power Hour

Hear from experts each month that will answer your questions and empower you to be a better parent! Presented in partnership with This Side Up! Family

Haggard Tuesdays 6:30pm

Sep 11 You Want Me to Buy You What? – Teaching Children about Money

Money... What an emotionally charged topic. Many parents need guidance on what to give, when to give and what to pay for. Instilling good money habits in our children is arguably one of life’s most important lessons. Teaching our children how to manage and save money is crucial, so we’ll talk through practical tools to start with the basics and build on them!

Oct 9 Growing a Kind and Thoughtful Child

Today’s children live in a world where they are bombarded with negative messages, many of which devalue respect for others. To help children grow into responsible, caring adults, parents must be intentional in teaching children how to treat others with compassion, respect and thoughtfulness. Children are taught responsibility when they help with chores at home. Volunteering together strengthens family bonds, enhances communication and sends a message to your children that you’re a team! Learn ideas and opportunities for how kids can serve at home and how your family can serve in our community

Nov 13 Have an Attitude of Gratitude

“I am the only kid in school that does not have one.”
“Everyone else does.” “I have to have it.” Teaching children the difference between “want” and “need” can be the first step towards raising confident, resilient and successful children. Learn how to cultivate an attitude of gratitude in your home and cure your kids of the entitlement epidemic

